

Monday, January 28, 2013

DAILY MESSAGE OF CHRIST JESUS, TRANSMITTED TO THE VISIONARY FRIAR ELÍAS

As the Shepherd of souls I throw over the world My nets to save My followers from sin and from error. For this My dears, today open your arms to receive My Heart of Love.

Under every circumstance I animate you to go ahead so that My plans on the Earth may be accomplished through your beings. Dears, do not fear the attacks of the enemy because My Redeeming Spirit will not allow that your souls suffer. Today enter in reverence into the infinite ocean of My Mercy, calm your minds and harmonize the heart through the rays of My Love. I am training you for the coming times.

For this, My companions, the first rule is that you never forget that I love you and that in My Christic Love all may be resolved. I come back in Spirit to encourage you to be all of the days in Me, so that you may seek and call Me because thus I will respond to you above all things. If the souls affirmed themselves a little more in faith and in trust to God, the plans would draw themselves in the same way as a brush of a painter, all would be visible, clear and precise for each of My flocks, of My children.

I fulfill the promise of the first part of My Return by means of the announcement of My messages that intend to awaken the souls before the Final Judgment. For this I will wait that you come to Me, to My ocean of infinite and prodigious mercy so that inside of My Rays your hearts may allow themselves to be cured and to close the wounds.

I love you mercifully.

I guide you mercifully.

I wait for you always in silence and prayer.

Under the Divine Spirit of God, may your hearts be merciful.

Thank you for guarding My Mercy in the heart!

Christ Jesus, the Savior.