EXTRAORDINARY DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF AURORA, PAYSANDU, URUGUAY, TO SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

Today, I only ask you to never lose the joy of your hearts. May you be capable of facing the planetary situation with maturity, but never with sadness.

If you lose the joy of your hearts, you may lose faith and hope of one day seeing the Plan of God fulfilled, of one day seeing a Redeemed Earth appear before your eyes.

When My Chaste Heart began this cycle of daily messages, I told everyone that I would lead you to a new humanity, and so it will be, because - despite all that happens in the world - there are a few who will respond to the celestial call until the end of their lives and leave the seeds of a redeemed life on the soil of this Earth.

Today I will ask you to be aware of the great need of the world and also to be like a light that illuminates and warms the cold hearts of men.

My dear companions, after having been in this world in days of much darkness and in times when the Earth was also approaching a great collapse, I come to encourage and instruct you, as I did with Jesus, so that you may find God and, in Him, the inexhaustible source of wisdom, the unbreakable strength to transit in days of darkness and the love that redeems all and forgives all.

I come to ask you to never give up, even when the Divine Messengers are no longer here. There will be days when you will not know what to do, or where to go, and in those moments, you must enter into the precincts of your hearts and search there for all that one day we gave you.

Our words could be only embodied in your hearts, but they are also on paper, to be an enduring guide to all human consciousness.

I want you to know that the days of greatest darkness will dictate the moment of greatest surrender, moment to live the highest degree of love, because from this love, which can emerge from your hearts, will depend the light that will return to shine in the world.

God will never forsake you. If He distances Himself and you do not find Him outside of you, it is because the time has come to live the perfect union with Him in your inner self, time to discover the likeness between the Creator and the creature, time for yourselves to be part of God in this world.

My beloved companions in Christ, follow Our instructions without fear and with precision, because in this way you will never lose yourselves from the path and can guide others who have never found themselves in life.

Today I can ask you nothing more than the permanent prayer and reconciliation with one another. If you do so, your own hearts will tell you the next steps.

I love you and bless you always.

Your Beloved Friend and Companion, The Most Chaste Saint Joseph
