

Monday, December 3, 2018

DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF FIGUEIRA, MINAS GERAIS, BRAZIL, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

Trees and life - Part III

Although the potential of trees is alive and they purely express the love for God through their beauty, their harmony and their elevation, the task of trees on this planet has not been accomplished yet.

Like all beings, trees also came to the world to live a learning of love, but what differentiates the learning of the Kingdoms of Nature from that of human beings is that the Kingdoms need the expression of love from humans in order to evolve.

Trees fulfill their function of maintaining the union between Heaven and Earth and are always inspiring hearts to turn to God and to their own self. But in life together, with other trees, in the forests, in the woods, many times they express typical characteristics of the retrograde condition of this world, such as competition and struggle for life, thus destroying the lives of other trees.

For the Kingdoms to express absolute love, they must receive this love. Trees are constantly trying to assist humanity so that one day they may realize that evolution is only complete when assistance is mutual.

I tell you these things, children, because everything that God manifested in life was to lead you to higher degrees of love. And now that the greatest Commandment, that you must love your neighbor as yourselves and God, above all things, is now in your consciousness, today I come to complete this Commandment, because the human consciousness is ready to understand: Love your neighbor and the Kingdoms of Nature as yourselves and God above all things. Thus, you will understand that the Father is in everything: in your neighbor as well as in the Kingdoms, inside of you and all around you.

Your Father and Friend,

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph