

Thursday, July 19, 2018

APPARITION OF SAINT JOSEPH IN DORNES, PORTUGAL, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

When hearts express gratitude to God and souls praise the Creator in their most pure joy, God also expresses His gratitude to humankind, to His little creatures, those small bits of His Being, of His infinite Heart.

When you express gratitude to God, you unite with Him, because gratitude, children, opens the doors of Heaven and unites dimensions, in spite of the indifference of humanity, in spite of the numbness and of the illusion that still permeates the hearts of so many beings on this Earth.

When some few, but sincere, express their gratitude to God, the doors open to the infinite Universe of His Mercy and of His Love, and not only those who cry out, who are grateful, and who love the Father, receive His Mercy. His Fount is poured out indiscriminately over all souls, because this is the way of the Heart of your God: infinite, infinite in His Love, infinite in His Grace, infinite in His Mercy.

Today I come here not only for you, but for a wounded continent.

I come here for those who are furthest from God, who do not know Him, and for this reason do not love Him.

I come here for those who hang on to their wounds and who, without realizing it, pin their own souls to suffering, to anguish, to emptiness, which is not a spiritual emptiness, but an emptiness of God, an absence of love.

I know that in the depths of each one of you, these wounds are also reflected. This is why I am here.

I am part of this humanity, which does not know itself. I am part of your hearts, I understand you, but I also know how much you can offer God and you do not know it or do not want to know it; because this, children, means effort, valor, courage, and above all, love.

There is no other way of knowing the Love of God except risking to love, trying to love every day, searching for the path that takes you to real love. Do not seek for it in other human beings, because you will only learn to truly love your fellow beings when you love God, because He is to be found in all creatures.

Today I come to stretch out My Hands and touch each one of your essences so that you may awaken.

For a long time, I accompanied you in a silent way, walking on this continent, bringing healing and awakening to souls, but that was not enough. For this reason, I return in the name of God, in the name of My Son, Who is the Son of the Creator, who is God Himself.

I touch your hearts so that you may remember your commitments to God, because the time has now come.

I touch your hearts so that you dare to set aside the human small-mindedness, the conflicts, the grievances, the lack of fraternity, so entrenched in your hearts, so that you may make room for a love still unknown to you.

Just as I come to the world for a wounded humanity, I want each one of you to also be in the world with the same purpose of healing the human heart, of sowing the good, of sowing the new.

We came to this place at the request of God, not because it is what He most needs, but because humanity will have need of it.

Here we came to plant a new life, sow the healing, the Grace and the Mercy of God, so that the Gifts of the Heart of your Father may spring forth here like an infinite fount, where souls will be able to quench their thirst when no other place yields Water for them, the Water of Life, Water that comes from God.

We came to sow purity here, so that you may express it.

We came here to open the door of Heaven, as from the depths of the Heart of Lys, so that you may unite Heaven and Earth, so that this very silent Kingdom may not just be a story to you, a knowledge or some information, so that it may be a reality, a living experience.

Aspire to be instruments of the Kingdom of Lys, instruments of God, instruments of the Heart of your Heavenly Mother, so that you may carry Her Virtues, Her Graces, whatever place you go, so that you may multiply what you receive and serve humanity and the Kingdoms of Nature with your actions, with your word, with your mere presence.

Aspire to transform, aspire to heal, aspire to awaken and move from the point that you are at, every day, because an instrument of God, children, is not the one who achieves perfection, but rather the one who allows themselves to be transformed every day by the Hands of their Father, recognizing the roughness of their wood, but also the potential for it to transform into something sacred in the Hands of God.

Every day more, humanity looks for comfort and all the ways in which to remain more inert.

For this reason, today, with My Heart full of the Spirit of God, I come to bring a Fire to ignite your souls, for the renewal of your spirits, so that you are not like ordinary humanity, looking for comfort in a time in which the Earth is in agony, thirsty for service, for surrender, for the giving of self.

Do not look at the goals of God as something unattainable. Raise your hands and touch that which the Father offers you. His Arms are always stretched out to the world; His offer is permanent, unchangeable. His hope does not wither and His Love never dies, but you need to lift your eyes and your arms to take that which God has for each one of you. Do not be content with the things of the world, do not be content with the knowledge you have already received. Seek an experience that makes this knowledge come alive and thus, broaden it.

Do not have knowledge of the Kingdom of God; live in the Kingdom of God.

Do not have knowledge of the Kingdom of Lys, be the Kingdom of Lys; be part of this Sacred Kingdom and let it no longer be a mystery to humanity, because when those who do not know it ask you "what is the Kingdom of Lys?", you will be able to respond "I am the Kingdom of Lys." And you can be the Kingdom of Lys when you open wholeheartedly so that it may enter and transform you into an instrument of the purity and the peace that dwells there.

I asked for a Reliquary of My Heart here, so that you may definitely awaken, so that you may contemplate it and seek for assistance, so that you may contemplate it and recognize your own imperfection. But know that, even with this imperfection, the Lord performs miracles. This Heart that is before your eyes is not perfect, but Its surrender is absolute.

I never experienced perfection on Earth. On the contrary, every day I had to surrender many miseries to God, but it was the constant surrender itself that drew Me close to the Heart of the Father.

Come stand before this Reliquary to recognize your miseries and surrender them to God so that you may be beyond them, crying out for the world. Contemplate it for those that cannot come here.

Imagine that Its Rays and Its Grace, which do not come from Me but rather from He Who sends Me to the world, are able to reach each soul most in need.

Today I show you My Chaste Heart and I offer It.

Accept this Grace, this offer, and dare, dear companions of Christ, to make the same offer before God.

In each Reliquary, I leave a little piece of My Being, just like in the Kingdom of Lys, which is also My house.

Sing to this Reliquary, so that I can bless it and so that this Heart, which I expose today to your eyes, is able to be reflected in this wood, as imperfect as a human heart, but which fills with graces, with mercies, with love, when it offers itself to God.

Let all the Gifts and Virtues that are born of My Chaste Heart enter into this Reliquary so that not only that which I achieved in My life on Earth is kept there. Let everything that I learned from the origin of My Being to My meeting with God be spiritually deposited in this little Heart so that, in this way, each one that contemplates Me learns to travel that path from origin to origin, from the Heart of God to the Heart of God.

In this way, understand that the Graces of the Lord are infinite and mysterious, for they will never fit in the human mind. But the heart that has faith does not need to understand with the mind that which is in the certainty of its heart.

Now sing and allow everything I told you to become life.

Your heart, My child, represents the heart of all of Europe. That is why I called you here, I asked you to make the dwelling of My Reliquary so that it could go to Europe by means of you sheltering and safeguarding My Chaste Heart. And while your hands worked, not only your heart was healing, but also the heart of Europe so that, in this way, each being could understand that they are not separate from their people and their story and that in a small act, even if unconscious, it can slowly go transforming the story of this humanity.

I called you here not only to grant you a Grace, but so that through you I could grant Graces to this continent, to this planet. This is what the Mystery of God is like: His Heart multiplied, was shared and generated lives and creatures, but never ceased to Be One. You are part of the Heart of God and each one of your brothers and sisters are also a part of you.

Revealing this mystery, I ask all of your brothers and sisters that all that they do from today on, to do in the name of humanity, in the name of Europe, in the name of their nations, and to be aware that in order to transform this world, they do not need great things, but just to expose their own heart so that God may do so.

Live the divine mystery of the Presence of God within you and do not understand His unity, be that unity, and thus, open the doors and the paths so that other brothers and sisters of yours may also return.

As My Son taught Me and taught the heart and the spirit of each priest consecrated by Him, the time has come to remember His surrender, of doing that which He asked you to do in remembrance of Him, so that His Presence might be eternal, not only spiritually, but physically, transforming the cells and the atoms of each being who shares with Him the bread and the wine consecrated and transformed into His Body and into His Blood.

In the Spiritual Presence of Christ, together with His Angels, let us lift up this offering so that He may consecrate it.

Within yourselves find the memory of the Supper of Christ, because in this spirit of unity, everything that was experienced by a human heart is kept within everybody. Remember when He lifted up the bread, blessed it, and shared it with His companions and each human heart. Remember when He lifted up the Chalice, blessed it, and placed His Blood there, His first offering, which would be spilled out for the forgiveness of sins, for the redemption of souls.

Today the Blood of Christ is shed again in this consecrated juice, in this fruit that is offered in the name of all life and all the Kingdoms of Nature so that it may transform in Christ. Just as the wheat and the grapes are offered as a symbol of surrender of nature to the Heart of God, offer yourselves as well so that, when these consecrated elements enter your bodies, you transform them into the Body and the Blood of Christ so that a new life may begin to be gestated, little by little, in you and in each human being.

Together let us pray that prayer that He taught you, which unites Heaven and Earth, which again unites the heart of humankind with the Heart of God.

[The Our Father in Aramaic]

Lets sound the bell for seven times.

My Heart will wait in the room of prayer of this humble house. Let the Marian Center manifest so that it may dwell there and, from there, be radiated to the world.

On this night, I bless you and I thank you for coming here, for that is the symbol that your souls are thirsty to awaken.

May the blessings of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit be a reality in your spirits.

I thank you.

Continue singing so that I may say goodbye and, with the same joy, sing so that you may receive your Lord and your Lady, because the Grace of God is infinite.