Songs of Figueira - "At the Altar"

Within this song is revealed the importance that there is, for the end of times, in building an inner temple, capable of being filled by universal and cosmic Laws, capable of protecting and of holding the most pure essence of God, within His children, the co-creators.

For this reason, the song cries out for the Spiritual Hierarchy, following the sacred principles of the Brotherhood in humility and in obedience.

It is for this reason, the entire foundation of a true and sacred spiritual life is to be found in the living of attributes, which will be the basic rules for the construction and the strengthening of the life of the spirit; principles and laws that bring us out of ignorance and of the spiritual drowsiness of these critical times.

The song's title is "At the Altar" because after the daily construction, after some evolutionary methods and behaviors in life, the sacred temple of each being, represented by each consecrated body, offers the Lord all of their being to be purified and blessed by the divine energy of Grace.

In this sense, the living terrestrial being begins to lose the power that desires and habits have over human life.

Setting aside these mundane habits, the consciousness takes wing toward the infinite in search of its origin and of its higher reality, leaves inertia behind, and banishes any vestiges of indifference.

In this way, the soul, which builds its inner temple for the Lord, surrenders to an absolute unconditional service, knowing that nothing of what exists belongs to them, that no recognition offered will enlarge their spirit.

The soul ardently seeks union with Divine Spirit and leaves behind the corrupted stream of illusion in order to enter into the great Universal Consciousness where the Spiritual Hierarchy dwells.

Thus, the first premise in support of the elevation of this temple is vigilance and prayer, fundamental keys to keeping the great stronghold of the spirit protected. In this way, nothing and nobody will take the disciple by surprise; on the contrary, the consciousness will be attentive to the new indications of the spirit.

This song teaches about truly building a life based on selflessness and service to others.

I thank you for keeping My Words in your heart!

Who blesses you,

Your Master, Christ Jesus
