

Saturday, November 2, 2013

DAILY MESSAGE OF CHRIST JESUS, TRANSMITTED TO THE VISIONARY FRIAR ELÍAS

The Parable of the Roses

You are the roses and I Am the gardener. I wait for your flowers of life to be between My Hands so that as unique and precious bouquets you may be able to be placed at the feet of the Altar of God.

All of the roses are watered with the same Water, Water that flows from the source that comes from My Heart. For this, if the most closed roses open themselves to Me as they do to the rays of Sun, from them will be born good and harmonious aromas of the Creation.

There are gardens all over the Earth, gardens of souls and of hearts that form part of the project of God, but all of the gardens must be trimmed by the hands of the wise Gardener. If the necessary care in the gardens of the Lord does not occur, the roses and the flowers may get dry and disappear.

For this, all of the flowers of the gardens of the Earth must nourish themselves with the Water of Life and must not seek inner nourishment in other sources that are dry. Since the beginning, there exists one only Source that will always provide you with wisdom and peace.

Be precious roses between My Hands. If you love with the heart your beings will be more beautiful than the rainbows that cross all the Earth. Allow yourselves to be cultivated in the celestial gardens. There, no other hidden gardener will cut off the root that originally unites you with My Heart.

Under the Grace of the Father, be blessed.

Thank you for living in the garden of My Heart!

Christ Jesus