DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF FIGUEIRA, MINAS GERAIS, BRAZIL, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

The time has come to become aware of the sacred that you are called to live; the sacred that dwells within the ground you walk upon; the sacred that is expressed in that which is invisible in the life you lead, each day.

This is the moment for perceiving the presence of the Hierarchy in everything, which for humanity has been silent for so long, but that must reveal, not only its realities, its wisdom and its mystery, but also the Hierarchy must reveal itself for all beings.

Little by little, you must transform that which is still superficial in your lives. And I speak of what is in the depths of your hearts, your aspirations, thoughts, desires and your most human wills, because what is external and expressed in the world through your actions inevitably transforms when your hearts transform.

Thus, I do not speak of looking outward, I do not speak of correcting a fellow being and their steps and the way others live and express themselves. Because to correct what is outside of you is often a step that does not become consolidated because within you the world of your desires, your superficiality and your illusions remain.

And so, it is the time to look inward and become aware of the sacred in your own heart; to know and to recognize the Love of the Hierarchy and the Graces that God grants you through higher life.

In this way, you may become elevated while within yourselves you experience transformation.

True transformation occurs in what is hidden, where nobody sees it, because it is also there where those aspects of the consciousness that resist surrendering remain.

You may appear to be many things to the world that are not true, because within you is where the truth dwells.

And when you are transformed from within, you become vehicles of transformation on the outside. Your simple presence will speak to the world about the truth and will inspire hearts to seek it.

For this reason, children, it is time for you to become aware within yourselves of the sacred, the presence and the silence of the Hierarchy and all the life that dwells within the Earth. Because this life will begin to emerge on the surface of the planet and, so that you may participate in it on the outside, you must first truly live it within yourselves.

You have My blessing for this.

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph
