

Wednesday, February 6, 2019

DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF AURORA, PAYSANDU, URUGUAY, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

When Heaven opens before your eyes, just give thanks and revere the Father, Who came to call you by name to respond to His call.

The Will of God is unique and unchangeable, but throughout the evolution of humanity, it finds different ways to be expressed and manifested.

The Will of God is like water flowing from a pure fountain, on the top of a mountain, and evolution is that great mountain through which the water of the Divine Will flows to reach beings. Although it finds different paths and flows with different intensities, the water is the same, and the fountain is eternally pure.

You, child, must receive this water that comes into your life with joy, so that drinking from it, you can be strong to follow the path that leads to the Source and walk back to the bosom from where this higher Will springs.

The Will of God is shaped by the obstacles of life and the possibilities of human beings. The fewer stones along the way, the more it flows, it reaches those who are thirsty in a greater intensity. You must only follow this Divine Will, without placing more stones within the river of life. But when the stones belong to the human consciousness as a whole, it is enough for your heart to keep drinking this water and to carry it to those who are thirsty, drop by drop. The river will always flow and you will find a wider way to expand its waters at the next bend.

This is a time of many obstacles for the river of Divine Will, but it will be enough to persist and always be willing to experience it, to generate merits so that a moment of greater fluidity of this Will emerges for all humanity.

Meditate on what I tell you and, with this image within your heart, climb this mountain of return to the Source and do not become tired of walking.

Your Father and Friend,

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph