

Wednesday, April 6, 2016

DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE CITY OF FLORIANOPOLIS, SC, BRAZIL, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS?

So that other souls may awake, you must be and live what you already know. After having been children of the Divine Mercy, you must now live and multiply it, spreading this Mercy on the planet.

Be merciful not only with yourselves, but also with others. If you do not know how to do it, look for the example of Jesus both in His passage on Earth and in His effect on the life of each awake being in this time. Christ always gives you what you do not deserve and does not apply the Justice that, many times, you should experience.

In the same way that to reach true love you need to be humble first, it is so for you to be merciful. Mercy cannot abide the heart of the prideful, because if you judge to know what each being needs and you want to be more judgmental than the Celestial Judge, how will you be able to provide a fellow being with an opportunity for transformation and evolution through Divine Mercy? How will you become channels of this divine spring if you are full of yourselves and your own opinions?

Many believe themselves to be merciful, but the majority are barely on the path of this discipleship of Divine Mercy. For I tell you, children, that to express Mercy itself, you must be like the Creator, Who gave the best of Himself to be destroyed and rejected by humanity, only to continue giving opportunities for His creatures to learn about love.

Throughout human existence, many made the sacrifice of Christ worthwhile, because they understood and lived the essence of His Love in themselves. And now, children, at the peak of the manifestation of chaos, you must again express that christic essence, deepen it and multiply it among the most lost souls.

Merciful love defeats terror and defeats chaos, but you must fully and truly live it. Begin by seeking the path of humility, patience and meekness. Little by little, these attributes will be converted into understanding, love and mercy. You must try every day and start building this fortress and divine archetype.

An athlete does not become professional from one day to the next: they train every day, overcome difficulties, many times get hurt, think about giving up, but when they persist, strive, and allow themselves to be corrected by those who train them they soon reach their goal. Thus, it is the same for the disciple of Christ. If you let yourselves be corrected by the Master and follow His indications, even though you will not become Christs from one day to the next, at some moment, the Lord will achieve His victory in you and you will be in likeness to Him or will even do greater things than the ones He has done; just like a young athlete surpasses his trainer when he is dedicated, obedient, and humble of heart, to be always ready to learn and allow himself to be shaped.

Go ahead, companions, towards living the Will of God.

The One Who leads you to the Great Universal Master,

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph