DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED ON THE BUS EAGLE OF LIGHT, DURING THE JOURNEY BETWEEN THE PROVINCE OF CORDOBA, ARGENTINA TO PAYSANDU, URUGUAY, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

While the enemy of God sows discord between nations, between religions, and between the different cultures of this world, I call you to cherish love and unity among beings.

Children, the plans of the enemy cannot be hidden from the eyes of the Father, and the Lord cannot do anything else but warn His children that, in the human consciousness, fear, discord, anger, disbelief, loss of hope, and disaffection are being sown.

The adversary of the Lord seeks every day to destroy the spirit of faith in the hearts of humankind. He is trying to confront the different religions of the world as a means for all the ways of union with God to be brought down by its cunning. It also does so with nations and cultures by encouraging confrontations among hearts to prevent human beings from developing the principle of unity.

But what the adversary of God is ignorant of, is that his cunning does not resemble the Love of God at all and that his strength can never compare to the Power that comes from the Creator. This certainty must reign again in the human heart, the certainty that God has the power to defeat any evil, darkness, and shadows.

May each creature unite with the Lord just as they understand Him; may they not lose faith in His Mercy, and even when being before Justice, may they have the strength to generate merits to balance their own debts.

I tell you this because I want you to understand that a mission that unites cultures and religions for the only purpose of strengthening fraternity among beings is of incalculable value in the Kingdom of the Heavens. For this reason, I ask the missionaries of My Chaste Heart - who have bravely accepted the missions entrusted to them by God - to be capable of transcending their own limitations and need for healing in order to heal, in the human consciousness, the evil that seizes its heart.

I ask that you selflessly serve all the time, that you recognize the opportunity for transcendence that God presents to you in every moment, because while your arms work in matter, Ours work in the spirit.

I know that many will feel tiredness, not only physical but also spiritual, because both in Chaco and in the Middle East, God aspires to share the sorrow of His Heart with all those willing to be with Him and for Him in the face of human suffering.

I only tell you to trust in Our guidance, in Our Grace, which bathes and renews you every new day, so that you may face those missions with love and gratitude, with humility and faith.

Each time that you transcend an aspect of resistance and open up to experience the Grace of God, We open the doors to Heaven a little more for the salvation and rescue of souls, because - by the merits generated by the effort of everyone - the Creator grants Us this act of mercy.

Give all of yourselves for those who feel incapable of giving one more step towards God. Transform yourselves for those who do not even have the bravery to persist in a worthy survival.

Never forget that the same God Who created you in perfection, today dwells within those who stand before you. All the effort and work that you do to return the Lord His possibility to be manifested in Glory in the hearts of humankind will be little. For there are many who do not know and even deny God in their essences.

Cherish unity, cherish love, cherish so that each one may find the union with God, just as you know Him, and remain in the purity of your faith, achieving the experience of love wherever you may be.

Your Father and Friend,

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph.
