MONTHLY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF FIGUEIRA, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS

These words emerge from a question asked by a daughter of Mine because the time has come for you to learn to serve with pure love.

I want you to discover in charity the simplest and quickest path for the transformation of the deep aspects of the consciousness.

Service, My beloveds, is the doorway for those who have decided to find the Living Christ within themselves and within all beings.

Always seek first the need of your fellow being, always, even though strength fades away from your arms and even though the body does not allow you to continue. When that moment comes, enter the heart, for it can go places where the body cannot reach.

When the last drop of sweat spills for having served those who knocked on your door, then submerge into that space that will never bring you weariness, that is inexhaustible, infinite, where charity is to be found in its most pure essence: enter into the heart.

If you ask Me how to serve with joy, I will just answer you to seek those who are really in need and that exceed all the limits of suffering which your hearts can conceive; because for many, it is difficult to find the entrance to the heart when the service they can provide is a daily service. If your hearts still have not opened, go towards those who are in so much need, those that, from so much suffering, not only pay their spiritual debts but those of the whole world as well.

When, before those brothers and sisters, you may have experienced the love to be found in your hearts, for you have discovered it in the need of loving, then do return and see that around you there is always a heart in need of your support.

Notice that you are always faced with hearts and consciousnesses that represent universes within them, and joyfully serve these, as well as the ones greatly lacking in love.

Serve, by knowing that through works of charity, unity emerges, for whose manifestation this world was created. Serve, for in charity love sprouts as an inexhaustible source in your hearts, and once you discover that source, it will never be able to hide in your inner world; it will always be there, willing to become greater and infinite, ready to show you that love can be given to all equally and that the need of the rich in their poverty of spirit is as great as the poor, who dies in famine and loneliness.

My dear ones, thus loving everyone, you will cause the rich to discover they can provide for the needs of the poor, and also the poor that can supply the needs of the rich, who has not known the joy there is in living in simplicity.

Charity leads you to unity and love, and I will always guide your hearts and your beings to these principles. Just allow My simple words to echo in your hearts and be transformed into a source of transformation and impulse so that you may definitely live that which you came to manifest in this world.

I love you and thank you for experiencing the joy of finding My Most Chaste Heart.
