Apparition of the Virgin Mary in the Marian Center of Figueira, Minas Gerais, Brazil, to the visionary Friar Elías del Sagrado Corazón

I have come here with the Scepter of the Light of God to aid the world and in this way, establish the peace that is still lacking in humanity.

From your hearts, I have received all your prayers, and this pleases God greatly, because the pilgrim hearts, the most humble among the humble ones, have decided to be faithful to My Heart, so as to be faithful to Christ, and consequently, to the Almighty.

Believe, dear children, that today I am giving you many Graces, after having made a pilgrimage here, seeking to strengthen your faith, the union among your families, and the restorative communion, which you are invited to experience every day through the Holy Eucharist.

Today your simple hearts confessed to My Heart. As a compassionate Mother, I hold you all in My arms, to offer God the best that you have within yourselves.

On this evening, I want to expand your consciousnesses beyond this apparent material life, so that your souls can take new steps, in representation of all of humanity, which in these times is very disconnected from God, far from the Fount of His Love.

By being merciful and faithful to My Immaculate Heart, you will always find the doors open to the Kingdom of God, into which all your supplications will be taken, not only by My Maternal Heart, but also by the Sacred Heart of My Son.

So today I want to tell you, dear children, that My joy is infinite because of finding you here with Me today, strengthening in your souls the path of perfection, the path of prayer, which is very necessary in these times.

Feel that your sadness, problems, and obstacles are dissolving before My Presence, because today, carrying this Scepter of the Light of God, I am not alone here, dear children, but rather with all the angels of Heaven that assist your Celestial Mother to carry forward this co-redeeming Work.

Today I come displaying My crown of stars to illuminate the four corners of the Earth and so that, beyond this humanity, the higher spirits of your beings may awaken to this call, and thus find it again.

I invite you to experience the instruction from your heart and to be the living instruction in these times, for in this way, the Gospel of My Son will be in a process of fulfillment.

Today I come with the Scepter of the Light of God to remove what My enemy conveys to all human minds that are very weak because they lack a true life of prayer, a true pleading of the heart to the Heart of God.

I need, dear children, that you become strong. That is why I bring this Scepter of the Light of God, and today I extend this revelation to you so that your consciousnesses may take new steps and you do not miss the divine impulse that is coming directly from Heaven and the Universe, to experience these spiritual impulses that will make the New Humanity possible, which will be driven by you.

I need you to be humble, and if you have still not found the humility of the heart, I invite you to live resignation before My Son, because in this way, dear children, you will allow Christ to accomplish His Work through your lives and hearts.

Again I invite you to fidelity, so that you may be contemplated by God in the immensity of His Divine Mercy.

So, dear children, I come to consecrate each one of you to God day by day, according to what each one can give Me, in the school where you are, to thus be able to learn from all that the Universe will bring to the Earth, within this school of redemption and of forgiveness.

Above all, may the Love of God prevail in you, because without the Love of God, I assure you, My children, that you will not be able to do anything; you will feel too limited to solve the things of this superficial life.

Without the Love of God, you will not be able to follow the Celestial Hierarchy; you will be many steps below, and you will not be able to be at the point God needs in these times.

Each one of you, in spite of the imperfections of human life, is a precious instrument for God.

I come to ignite the flame that exists in you, so that through you, you will be at the service of My Son in this preparatory Plan of His second Coming to the world.

I want you to be able to open the spaces of your hearts, so that the thorns of misunderstanding may be removed, and in their place, love may be cultivated, the love that your Heavenly Mother brings you, to revive your spirits and consciousnesses in this proposal of redemption and of forgiveness.

Do not miss the chance to love, because I am very sure that you know when you are not loving, nor forgiving your neighbors, stepping away from the path of My Son, with your misunderstandings, because of your ignorance.

The Work of God is still not known by any being on Earth. It is a divine mystery that is slowly revealed, so that souls can learn to love it in an unknown and dedicated way, no matter what the cost.

Thus, dear children, I invite you to follow My Son on the path of the light of brotherhood, of consideration, and of the awareness that in truth, each act that you perform, no matter how small it may seem, has repercussions in humanity and in the universe.

You are part of the last phase of this race, before a New Humanity emerges, after your purification and surrender to what God needs.

My Heart of Love and of Truth reveals to you what God is thinking.

I invite you, dear children, to correct your paths because you are still in time.

My adversary will cause humanity to tremble, but My Scepter of Light, of the Light of God, will be invincible when it strikes the Earth with the Power of Grace and of Liberation.

This is My message for you; these are My words for today. I need you to meditate on them and that you not leave here as if you knew nothing, as if nothing had happened here.

In this way, I bring you the Gift of Wisdom so that you can contemplate it in your hearts.

Take the steps toward My Heart in obedience and sacrifice, so that you may be with Me in everything.

My wish, dear children, is that your inner ears do not close, but rather that your hearts expand when touched by the light of My instruction, so that evil may be dispelled, souls may reconsider and can be placed on the path from which they were lost.

It is My beloved Son Who, on this night of prayer and of consecration, sends Me to tell you all these things.

You know, dear children, to whom I am speaking, to whom I am addressing My words, so that your hearts can open.

My message is for the world and especially for My servants who for so long have followed Me on this path of hope and of faith.

And now I will demonstrate what My maternal love is like through the consecration of new children, whom I now call, so that you may be close to this altar, this center of humility that is offered to your Heavenly Mother.

These souls that congregate here today for consecration, represent many more in the world; souls that must be touched by the fire of the Love of My Son, so that all may receive the opportunity of entering the cycle of salvation.

The children of Mary are flames that are reignited through the call of God, which is emitted by our Sacred Hearts.

Today I am before different children, but in essence much alike, because today, here, the Universe of God has gathered you so that you can receive this Grace.

Now, with the simplicity of the heart, place your hands in a position of reception so that My maternal Light can consecrate you and make of you new lives, lives in the Lord, lives within the Plan of Love, the Plan of Redemption and of Peace.

Today, dear children, you have committed to pray with Me every day for the triumph of My Immaculate Heart, not only in your consciousnesses, in your families, in your loved beings, but also in the world and in humanity, which needs a great Grace to be able to be safe before My Son returns to the world.

Through your inner silence, dear children, children that will be consecrated to My Immaculate Heart today, place your intentions in My Heart so that the Father of Love, the Celestial Father may hear them.

I now receive your petitions in the silence of the heart and the soul, so that in this way, all of humanity can take the great and awaited step toward an awareness of love and of unity.

Today not only My Heart blesses you as new renewed children, but also the Scepter of the Light of God is placed on your heads so that the holy and divine Will may descend upon you and thus the Redeeming Project may be accomplished.

My Rays descend upon your spirits to console you.

My Graces touch your souls to convert you.

My Love enters into your hearts so that you can revive in Christ, until the thousand years of peace are fulfilled.

I consecrate you, I bless you, and also today I embrace you, placing you under My Mantle, where there is no danger, no evil, no adversity, but rather Light, Triumph, Redemption and Mercy for all the souls that thus accept them.

I bless you in My infinite joy.

In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. Amen.

I thank you for responding to My Call.

May your fortitude not tremble, but may your hearts transform so that the mind does not colonize them. So may it be.
