

Friday, September 15, 2017

Apparition of Christ Jesus during the Sacred Call, in the Marian Center of Figueira, Minas Gerais, Brazil, to the visionary Friar Elías del Sagrado Corazón

I do not come to promise victory here on Earth to any human being, but rather a sacrifice that is unknown to most. It is part of My Work of Mercy, which I try to have My apostles live in these times of transition.

Today I come with My five principle wounds alight.

I need you to feel the Wounds of My Hands, the Wounds of My Feet, and the Wound in My Side, so that you may share with Me what I am living for this humanity and for the one to come.

My Passion did not end on the Cross; it continues to live in the eternal silence of My Heart.

But today I also show you My shining Heart; this Heart that has given Its life for you, that surrendered for you so that you could be in communion with the Father through the times and the centuries.

See My Glorified Heart, which still burns with Love for souls.

This Love consumes My Heart like a Fire; it is a Love that sometimes hurts for being so limited in order to be given to souls that greatly thirst for God.

This is the Divine Fire that allows Me to be here with you and the one that has accompanied this humanity throughout the ages, from the moment in which I was incarnated here on Earth.

I do not want this Fire of Love to consume Me. I aspire to have it be poured out, given and shared with the souls that are more empty of God, that have no way out, that cannot find a sense for the realization of the Plan of God in this definitive time.

With the Light of My five Wounds and with My Heart burning with the infinite Love of God, today I wish you to place your hand over My Heart, so that you may feel My Presence, which is eternal and perpetual.

My beloved: place your hand over My Heart and feel the strength of My inextinguishable Love, this Love which restores and heals the deepest wounds of the consciousness, the unease of spirits, the sadness of the innocent, the pain for those who cry out for an opportunity.

Place your hand over My Glorified Heart and feel My Presence. I am here and if I am here, nothing like Me can be, for My Strength is indestructible, My Power, invincible.

Nobody can defeat My Love; for it is a Love that comes from God, from His infinite Source, from the deepest emanation of His eternal and sublime Heart.

Feel, through My Words, touching My Heart with your hand, this Divine Fire of Love and Grace of Healing and Redemption, which I pour over you today to renew your cells, your feelings, and all of your consciousness, which is bathed in My Spirit, is filled by My Consciousness, is uplifted by My Divinity.

Today I wish you all to touch My Glorified Heart.

Rest your head now upon My Chest and feel the peace. The peace that comforts, the peace that renews; My Peace, which restores. My Peace, which closes wounds. My Peace, which consumes any pain, any anguish.

Surrender into My Arms; enter into the depths of My Heart, where God is awaiting your spirit, together with His angels.

Rest your head on My Chest and feel completely empty; far from evil and close to the renewing Fount of My Heart.

Surrender into My Arms, so that I may cover you with the Sacred Mantle of My Divine Soul, of My Sublime Compassion.

Surrender, and resist no longer.

Open your heart, tell Me what you feel within.

I know your mysteries and the deepest corners of your consciousness. There is no obstacle for Me, no barrier that can stop Me reaching you.

Surrender to the Fire of My Heart and allow yourself to be consumed by the Sacred Adoration of My Eucharistic Heart.

Drink from the chalice that I am offering you today and live the sacrifice for Me, for all souls, for all the Kingdoms, for this planet in agony because of the lack of so much love.

Be consumed in My Fire and may My deep Flames of Love transfigure your feelings, transfigure your cells, and uplift your soul through My Heart to the Sacred Kingdom of God.

Feel the Rays of Healing, so that what is most impossible may be healed.

Feel My restorative Rays, so that what is restored may transform again into the Divine Project that I have for you.

Surrender into My Arms and let Me work.

In My Heart lies the refuge for these times, the fortitude for souls, the strength and power to defeat evil.

Now let My Wounds touch your body and place My Hands where you most need it. Feel the Light of My Wounds, feel My Hands, the humble Hands of a Worker for God, Who surrendered to you, out of Love and Redemption.

Feel the Hands of your King, which were pierced; Hands that bore the pain of the world, the indifference of humanity, up until these times.

Feel the heat of My Hands, which radiate healing and restoration for your cells, for each corner of your being.

Surrender to your Celestial Master.

Accept your Lord, accept your Husband and with Me live an eternal alliance with My Heart.

Now observe how all bitterness is dispelled and the power of My Wounds transforms all things, so that someday, beloved soul of My Heart, you may achieve the Light and Ascension.

Surrender into My Arms. Surrender before My Presence. For now you must be nothing so that I may be in you and you in My Father, Who is thirsty for the love of souls; Who is full of Mercy for all your defects, for all your wounds, for all that nobody can heal on this planet.

And now feel My Embrace, feel the refuge of My Spirit and submerge in the ocean of My Peace, where nothing matters anymore, only to be in God and in His Divine Presence.

Stay in My Arms as a small being and be as insignificant as all that was created. Be small among the smallest. Be the last among the first.

I invite you to be nothing, in the sacred void of My Infinite Love.

Do not seek results, but rather, constant effort.

Please My Heart for all the Wounds that the world generates for Me day after day.

Just like I give you My Being, surrender in capitulation to Me, so that you may be able to get out of yourself and may be able to now be in the suffering of your peers; healing as I have healed, loving as I have loved, surrendering completely, as I surrendered on the Cross for each one of you.

Make of My Words the fire of your life, the infinite Flame that illumines all things in these times of darkness.

Take My Heart as a new covenant and drink of My Divine Blood, to renew your being, and in this way, be transfigured overnight.

Stay in My Arms but for a moment and think no more of anything.

You are in My Kingdom, living in My Truth.

You are in the reality of the Universe, and at this very moment, far from illusion.

Surrender into My Arms, so that you may feel the Fire of My Love, and in this way, at this time, you may learn to love more each time, unconditionally, without barriers, without defenses, without facades.

Love as I have loved the whole world when I was on the Cross, in the greatest agony.

Love more than the pain and all suffering, because love will prevail and someday, you will be what I so aspire for, from the emergence of your consciousness.

Do not think of the past, but rather of this eternal present that I offer you today with Love, so that you may commune with Me in the fullness of My Spirit and in the Grace of My Consciousness.

Love for those who do not love.

Love for those who do not know how to love.

Love for your enemies.

Love in the face of so much indifference and may you find in your neighbors the Love of God, which is alive, but wounded, in your fellow beings.

Love like the angels love God. May this Love sweep you away; the Love that I give you today, the Love that comes from My Wounds and from the depths of My Heart.

Surrender into My Arms and you will learn to love as I hope for in this time of crisis.

Let this love emerge from you as a true spirit, as an unconditional Grace that is able to overcome your limitations and all your imperfections.

Now that you have surrendered into My Arms, surrounded by the Fire of My Love, by the Divine Light of My Wounds, accept My Call: to heal this planet under the Love of My Heart, so that many more souls may be saved, so that millions of consciousnesses may awaken to the life of the spirit.

The compelling strength of My Love is coming from the Universe, which wants to pierce many more hearts that today are in agony.

Feel the Rays of My Love and free yourself from captivity.

Feel the Rays of My Love and, in sacred silence, enter into communion with Me to enter into communion with God, so that sacred reparation may be established.

Now hold in your heart what I have unconditionally gifted you today, because I am helping you to carry the cross of these difficult times; I Am the New Cyrene.

I come to make of your life a new life, something unknown to you, something that is far out of your control and your little power; I come to make of your life what God expects.

Today I only come to accomplish My Will. Amen.

Move your hands to your heart and commune with Me, in the inner warmth that unites you today, in the renewing Communion that assembles you today so that, someday, we may become free, free of the chains, free of the prisons and of all the atavisms, as free as the apostles were.

All I ask of you is that you do not fear crossing the desert, for I will always be there, to stretch out My Hand to you and pick you up from the ground, giving you the strength and the courage, the forbearance and the hope to be able to walk toward the end of the goal, to the Kingdom of God.

Today I come with My sweet Fire of Love and with the gentleness of My Spirit, with My Love-Wisdom, to heal the world in its deepest nuclei, which are still unable to transform out of the fear of living the great Love that I eternally have for all.

Feel your heart empty of all repercussions; and now, contemplate how the flower of redemption opens up in your heart, as beautiful as the roses and all the flowers of the Universe.

This is the touch of your essence.

This is the reemergence of your purity, which has surrendered into My Arms so as to be able to rise like the Sun of My Heart forever, in this Universe.

In the times of darkness, I will come to give strength to those who follow Me, to those who listen to Me with an open heart, to those who adore Me, and to those who still wait for My coming to the world, although they may not see Me.

I want those who have still not surrendered, to surrender into My Arms.

I come to collect from you what is real and just.

I come to pierce the deepest layers of misery, the most rigid walls of the consciousness, through the Powerful Ray of My Love, and in this way, cause you to re-emerge under My Spirit, which is the Spirit of My Father.

And now, in My Arms, feel the Sacrament of Reconciliation with the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

I come to make new things of your lives.

I come to concretize what would seem impossible.

I come to manifest the Grace of God in this time, a Grace that is still not understood or valued by humanity.

I come to give you what comes from God, through the Most Beloved Heart of His Son.

I come to sanctify this oil with the deepest emanation of My Spirit, to consecrate new assistants of My Divine Mercy, who as from this night will be My Arms and My Hands, which through the Sacraments and the Ceremony may carry the Mercy of God for all souls to the world, for the most dying souls.

Today I will contemplate this consecration with joy, as it was in Santiago de Compostela, where in those souls I could see the true mission of their essences, manifested in material life through the simple act of adoring and of loving My Heart.

Today I come to give you this Grace that goes beyond your souls, all your conditions, all your imperfections.

I come to free them so that you may be in Me and I in you, in perpetual communion with the wives of the Lord.

May the Lord bless this element that emerged from the beginnings of this planet to sanctify souls and take away their thirst for God, so that they may be reconciled with the Most Holy Trinity, present in the element of water, a source of grace and of reparation.

This is the symbol* that will unite you with Me. Here is the union with My Sacred Heart, a source of grace and of healing.

And so, in times of gladness as well as of sadness, in moments of challenge as well as of tests, this is how I want to see you, My daughters, strengthened by the courage of the spirit, the forbearance of the soul, by the fire of your hearts united with the Fire of My Heart.

I bless everyone and the whole world with the luminous sign of Redemption: in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. Amen.

*Friar Elías shows the bread and the wine.