2 Through the union of souls during the meetings with My Beloved Son in this Holy Week, Your Heavenly Mother closely follows each one of Her children.

3 I will try to show you the signs I need you to see, so that your spirits and consciousnesses may mature.

4 The time is coming to be washed by the Blood of Christ, permeated by His Love and renewed by His surrender.

5 On this day, on which we continue to re-live the Passion of the Lord, continue to open yourselves internally so that God the Father may continue to work miracles in many souls of the world.

6 I need you to live the religion of Love, spiritual, divine and essential that your Master brings you through His Presence for all the souls of the world.

7 Washed by Christ, your spirit becomes one with Him. You are bread, a part of the Bread that is given at the altar. You are blood, part of the Blood that is poured on Calvary.

8 May the symbol of the Sacred Cross of the Redeemer remind you of the absolute Love that God gave you, a merciful Love that endures throughout time.

9 May all believers celebrate the victory of the Redeemer because this is the day of the Joy of God since His Plan has been fulfilled through His Beloved Son.

10 In the same way that I surrendered My Spirit into the Hands of the Father, today I surrender your spirits into the Hands of God, so that you may never forget all that I have left you.

11 The sacrifice of Christ becomes a spiritual and cellular communion and, like a divine miracle and a spiritual Grace, souls are touched and transubstantiated.

12 As a Mother, I accompany you during these days so that, after having gone through the Holy Week, you may be more strengthened so as to learn to undertake new challenges.

13 While you remain in prayer and in vigil, you will be protected and sheltered from all danger.

14 Humanity will be the Altar of Christ in this time of the planet, and everyone who prays in the name of His sorrowful Passion will be a living Eucharist and unity with Christ.

15 Carry the symbol of the Sacred Cross of the Redeemer with you, so that humanity may be transformed through all that My Son left to you.

16 May your faith in Christ never end. Now, the time has come for each of you to take up your own cross and follow Him.

17 I am present and silent in all places where two or more gather in My Name to recognize Me and call Me Shepherd of souls.

18 Let the waves of the divine impulses carry you further into the ocean of the Heart of God and, at each new impulse, dissolve into Him.

19 Unite your prayers with My supplications of light and let Me take care of all things.

20 I am here to sustain you and support you through My merciful and kind Heart.

21 Seated at the table with your Lord, pray, child, for all life, for all beings, for those who are lost in their own ignorance.

22 Never let your heart be closed by the indifference or the wrong actions of your peers.

23 May peace reign in the hearts that pray. May this peace expand beyond the inner world.

24 Let your soul be bathed by the powerful Light of My Heart so that you may regain your trust in God.

25 Love your Lord more each day, His Life, His example, His surrender, His eternal Consciousness, His Path, His Truth, because this same Love will allow you to imitate Him.

26 Let prayer transmute you and, at the same time, make you a participant in the Wisdom of God.

27 I bring you, companions, the Light of My Kingdom so that all darkness may be dispelled and hearts may achieve the peace and the stability that they need.

28 Rest your heart in God, knowing that in this time of chaos, more than ever, every moment of your life is guided and accompanied by the Creator.

29 May the power of prayer inspire you to always find the meaning of each moment and time.

30 Establish the sublime temple of prayer within yourself so that it may resound in your being and thus, elevate your consciousness.
