1 Love one another, always. Help one another, uplift one another, walk together. Live fraternity as a doorway to the unity with God.

2 My beloved children, may the path to the Mercy of God be walked by all pilgrims so that Mercy may fill those who were lost.

3 Seek Me when you feel loneliness, emptiness or desperation. I have something precious for you: live in My Heart, I will tell you who you truly are and why you came.

4 So that what you consider to be necessary in your lives may manifest, you must contemplate in your own hearts the needs of the world, of fellow beings and of the Kingdoms.

5 Encourage yourself to take My hand of Mother; I come to encourage you, to lead you on the sure pathway of redemption.

6 Do not stop defending your inner union with Christ because My adversary will try to destroy it; but if you call for the Grace of your Heavenly Mother, you may be protected.

7 Allow that all the Christic codes may be sown in your hearts, because My greatest aspiration, as King of souls, is that you may live eternally in Me.

8 To those who take care of their siblings, fellow beings and the younger ones, God, Who is perfect, will always send His protection and care.

9 Consecrated life is the principal pillar for the support of the planet, and from it all of the groups of prayer are served so that the spiritual task may be accomplished.

10 While the events take place, every day prepare your dwelling. The great day of revelation will come for those who want to see and also for those who want to hide.

11 The Lord has a predilection to manifest the needs of those who do not think of themselves and who, in all things, place others first.

12 In the times of Armageddon, may faith and trust in Christ be the shield and the greater power that generates absolute surrender to the Plan of the Father, so that His Will be done.

13 Your Mother, the Mother of all the refugees, walks with each one of them, crossing half of the continent, searching for a place where we may be received.

14 I come to the world to tear inner fears out of hearts and to free essences from perpetual suffering.

15 Remember that you must forget yourselves every day and allow the Lord to operate His wonderful miracle in your lives, and thus, pour out His infinite Graces.

16 Today I cut, with My sword, the bonds that tie souls, so that your consciousnesses may resurrect in spirit and be removed from the path of illusions of the world.

17 Meditate upon the time since you have been united to Me. I want to be the Life in your cells, I want to be the Fire of devotion for your heart. Do not abandon Me; I Am all yours.

18 Do not limit the Power of God by always asking Him for what you believe you need; rather, observe what a fellow being needs most and fulfill their need.

19 The missionaries will carry in their hearts the testimony of the Love of God, and they will demonstrate it through the works of service and of charity for the people of each place.

20 May the consciousness of all those who accompany the missions be in protective prayer for the missionaries; thus, the peace will be more firm and My Heart may triumph.

21 Who aspires to be divested of themselves forever, seek Me. Who wishes to become unknown to the eyes of the world as a new being, call Me with courage and valor.

22 Si viven en función de la caridad y de la fraternidad, no solo en lo que se refiere a las cosas materiales, sino también a las espirituales, encontrarán un camino corto hacia Dios.

23 I Am the Universal Mother that comprehends and loves all because My only purpose is that you imitate My Son and one day be like the Christ of the poor, loving as He loved.

24 Do not be sad; surrender to Me and soon liberate what you have carried in your heart for so long. The control that you try to keep and your resistances will make you suffer.

25 Virtues are gained when virtues are given away. Graces are received by those who open to live by work of the Grace.

26 The triumph of My Heart will happen through souls that, at the most crucial time, will be a consolation in the face of despair and will have the inner strength for transformation.

27 My missionaries of peace are always guided to establish the spirit of faith and of hope in the essence of those who have been wounded by the cruelties of the world.

28 Even though the castles of sand fall down beside you, do not be disturbed. Everything that I have once said to you is being fulfilled; stone will not remain upon stone.

29 When you feel that you need a great opportunity, seek who is most in need, and you will see how it will come to you without your realizing it.

30 The gifts that favor peace, love and fraternity may be unforgettable for the souls that receive not only humanitarian help, but also, the love of the heart.

31 My Companions, it is you that must now push the heavy ship of humanity. The keys have already been given. Decide upon the Divine; the Celestial Universe awaits you.
