DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF FIGUEIRA, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS?

In the beginning of the Creation of God, He manifested the universes in the Infinite Cosmos, which was the living representation of His Divine Consciousness.

In the Cosmos, God reproduced in everything the same principles of creation, and in different forms, represented His Divine Consciousness in everything that He would create. He created the universes with the principles of His perfection; created the galaxies, the planets, the conscious beings, who were the living outcome of the essences deriving from His Heart.

And in the vast Cosmos, created by God in seven dimensions that coexist and, in harmony, help each other mutually in order to reach the same evolutionary purpose - to become again one with God -, the Creator created the human beings.

He separated from the other creatures, in material bodies, ancient spirits, to which He entrusted the greatest process of transformation and of redemption of His Creation.

In a parallel time, different from the time and the space of the rest of Creation, God placed the most precious that would exist, if the desired result were achieved and if the potential of His Project were developed in those consciousnesses.

In this world, the Creator reunited spirits coming from all over the Cosmos; consciousnesses with different types of learning and with hidden records, both positive and negative. From all of them, He removed the cosmic memory, so that they would not know who they were and, this way, they could unite their knowledge and balance one another in order to reach the expected purpose.

The Lord sent to the world, besides all the spirits in most need of redemption, Divine Consciousnesses, uniting thus, two opposites, and representing in this little planet the great duality that exists in this universe. He gave, in this way, two possibilities to the world: the one of living a great evil and the one of living a good.

In this risky divine experiment, the Creator entrusted to the essences of those creatures a divine principle, the unity that, when activated in the essence of love, would allow the consciousnesses to overcome the duality of the universe and find a way to elevate all of His universal Creation to a new level of learning, a learning based on the unity with God by means love.

When we ask you for prayer, it is to overcome the forces that do harm inside and outside of the beings; forces that are only overcome by a great good, which is love.

When we ask you to forget about yourselves, to serve the other and to recognize the planetary reality, it is for you, by discovering such a smallness of your tridimensional consciousnesses, to be able to realize that everything you live is an illusion and, letting go of what you think you are, discover what you really are.

When I talk about a new humanity, I speak of ancient spirits of the universe which, redeemed by the discovery of love and the living of unity, start living according to the principles left by the Son of God, who was for all the example and the right path to follow. The new humanity is this conversion of the spirits of the universe.

The new humanity is the symbol of the potential of the Love of God in His creatures; it is the demonstration, to all that has been created, of how it is possible to overcome a great evil and take a leap from complete ignorance to the conscious union with the Creator.

Today I tell you things that the mind may not comprehend, but that the heart will know that they are truths that, in some moment, humanity will have to recognize.

The time of experience for humanity is already coming to an end and now you must start remembering the principles of the superior life and, with all that you have lived in this world, start discovering who you are and what you must heal in this time.

Christ has already left inside of each one the possibility of living love and unity with the other. Now, you only need to wake up and see that your priorities must no longer be what keep you well and safe in this world, rather that you must prepare what will happen far beyond this Earth, with what you have learned here.

I ask you to listen to Me with peace and only place what I told you in the heart, because, the steps you will take in the future will depend on the correct understanding of the instructions of the Divine Messengers.

I love you and bless you.

Most Chaste Saint Joseph
