DAILY MESSAGE OF SAINT JOSEPH, TRANSMITTED IN THE MARIAN CENTER OF FIGUEIRA, TO THE VISIONARY SISTER LUCÍA DE JESÚS????????

When the soul faces its own darkness, its eyes can see nothing. There is no comprehensive clarity to it. The darkness of the soul leads to the darkness of the senses, of the thoughts, of the heart.

I do not tell you about the spiritual darkness that precedes the encounter with God. I talk about the darkness of these times, in which the soul enters when it is submerged in the abysses of its own consciousness. As that darkness comes from itself, there is no light that makes it see, or a Grace that withdraws it from obscurity. It is the soul itself that must turn its eyes to the heights and discover, beyond itself, the light that shelters it.

The soul transits through its own abysses many times without perceiving, but when this soul has already known and experienced the presence of light, it will cost it a lot to face darkness bravely, and also to accept that such pitch darkness comes from itself.

For the soul that enters in its own abysses after having defined its adherence to light, the time has come for taking one more step and allowing the light - which before illuminated and caused everything that was superficial and visible to shine- to now reach the dark abysses and make luminous that which the eyes do not want to see.

After bringing into light that which used to be in darkness, it will be up to each soul to love its dark aspects, just as it once loved its virtues and skills because in the same way as everything that was already positive in the soul was transformed, consolidated and ennobled in the presence of the light, so must the dark aspects receive in themselves part of this healing fluid that comes from the source of Love-Wisdom, in order to be transformed.

In order to love, you must be brave. In these times, learn to love like a maternal heart, which in spite of seeing the deepest and most unexplainable miseries in her children, never stops loving them. A mother loves, not for her child to continue being miserable; she loves because she knows that, in order for her child to be worthy and find the truth, they need to be loved, especially by her.

When the consciousness is transforming itself, the awoken soul must act like a mother because, so that their aspects do not generate resistance and allow themselves to be shaped and corrected, they not only need serenity, but the love of their own soul above all.

When the soul is immersed in darkness, it needs the silent and patient love of the fellowbeing, like a mother when she sees her child entangled in themselves and blind.

Feel what I tell you in your hearts and keep this in mind. If you do not comprehend what I tell you today, you will comprehend it tomorrow.

Your Father and Friend,

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph
