May the Gift of Healing permeate your hearts, so that through healing, you may overcome fear.

May the Gift of Healing permeate your hearts, so that through healing, you may recognize silence.

May the Gift of Healing permeate your hearts, so that through healing, you may return to the origin, not only the universal origin, but also the inner origin; may you return to the origin of Divine Thought, that one day you may manifest that Perfect Truth of God.

May the Gift of Healing permeate your hearts and lead you beyond what you can see, feel, touch, express.

May the Gift of Healing touch your hearts and reveal to you the Higher Life that dwells within and outside of each of you.

May the Gift of Healing touch your hearts and teach you to forgive the past, not forgetting the past, but rather transforming that experience in the consciousness into a learning experience, which allowed you to be here today. No longer blame yourselves for imperfections; each mistake on the path has allowed you to grow and each test that is to come will draw you closer to the Heart of God.

May the Gift of Healing permeate your hearts and show you the value of the truth and of transparency, of simplicity, of humility and emptiness.

May the Gift of Healing permeate your hearts and free you from all false power, all ambition that stops you from being instruments of the Divine Consciousness.

The world is in need of healing, but this does not take place from the outside in. Before healing occurs from the outside in, it needs to be lived from the inside out, and you already know this.

Healing, children, is the result of the Love and Forgiveness of God, and already existed since the origin. This means that before any error, forgiveness already existed; before any illness, healing already existed; before any deviation, redemption already existed; before life manifested, love existed, and it is through that love that you must begin to return, return to what is real, pure, sacred.

Human creation is a mystery among mysteries, because within this creation is held a still unknown Will of God, a creative movement that only He knows, and which allows Him to remain immutable in light of all that happens on the planet.

The Love of God does not change, it only multiplies and expands. And through this Love, the Creator continues to guide each heart, the Creator continues to accompany each soul. His eagle Eyes contemplate His Children in profound observation, in deep silence and deep love.

However, children, part of this mystery of the Divine Consciousness is also held in the Law of Duality, in the transcendence of this Law to a Higher Law, which is an unknown Love.

You will not be able to understand everything I would like to tell you today, but do not be in a hurry. Simply walk with the transparency of the heart and allow healing to enter first into each of you.

Allow yourselves to travel through the dark spaces of the consciousness to place Light there.

Allow yourselves to be imperfect, without this being a great suffering, because it is through the recognition of that imperfection that the possibility will be born for healing to enter into you.

While you hide your errors from yourselves, you do not allow Grace to fill you. For this reason, do not fear seeing, believe in the Love which will be capable of transforming all spaces, heal all wounds, transform all miseries.

Believe in Mercy. Believe in Forgiveness. Believe, children, that before, long before any error, Forgiveness already existed.

Does God expect to see you perfect?

Why did the Creator manifest Forgiveness, Healing, Grace?

And when they were no longer enough to intercede for humanity, He manifested Himself in the bosom of life and allowed Mercy to emerge, for a Will exists at the center of the Heart of God which only He knows, and a potential exists at the center of the human heart which only God knows.

And this potential does not exist to be known by humankind, but rather to be lived, and therein lies the mystery: in living, even without knowing, in being, in the simplicity of surrender, in service, in the giving of yourselves.

Those are the keys for finding that potential and letting it grow.

For this reason, today I bring you the Gift of Healing, so you may learn to be, and that you not seek to know, but rather live.

Do not look to live what others live; look to live the potential that is within each of you, and that expands, grows, expresses itself through the giving of self, of surrender and the revelation of the Love of God.

You have My blessing for this.

Your father and friend,

The Most Chaste Saint Joseph

At the end of the weekly Message, Saint Joseph did the consecration of the Eucharist, transmitting the following words:

And when the Creator manifested Himself in matter, in the bosom of His Creation, to renew each of His Children, to transform the human condition and grant you a new opportunity, God became not only flesh, but also bread and wine.

And just as He manifested as a Man among humankind, He manifested as bread within humankind, as Body in their body and Blood in their blood, because His utmost Love led Him to not only dwell on Earth, but also dwell in His Creatures.

Thus, manifesting this Will, which was not only His, but also that of His Father, Jesus took the bread, lifted it up and deeply united with God, as one Love, one Will, one Body, one Soul, and the Father, through Christ, transubstantiated the bread and transformed it into a living part of His Sacred Body.

Thus, Christ broke it, just as God broke Himself at the beginning of Creation. And the Creator offered Himself in the bread that Christ gave to His companions, saying: "Take and eat of it, all of you, because this is My Body, which will be given for you."

We praise You, Lord, and we bless You.

We praise You, Lord, and we bless You.

We praise You, Lord, and we bless You.

Amen.

Then Christ took the Chalice and lifted it up, and as a symbol of the life which flows between the dimensions, the life that animates the Divine Consciousness, the Creator, the Father, united with the Son, in one Love, one Truth, one Purpose, transubstantiated the wine into the Blood of Christ, and the life which flowed in the Blood of the Son united with the life that emerged from the Heart of the Father; He transubstantiated the wine into the Blood of Christ so that creatures would once again live through Divine Will and not miss the opportunity of renewing that Love.

There is where the Source of Divine Mercy was born, in the Blood of Christ united with the Blood of God, which was poured out and given to all creatures in that time and in all times, in all the centuries until today.

And in this way, the Lord offered the Chalice to His disciples, saying: "Take and drink of it, all of you, because this is My Blood, the Blood of the New and Eternal Covenant, which will be poured out for you for the forgiveness of all faults. Do this in remembrance of Me, until My Return to the world."

*We praise You, Lord, and we bless You.
We praise You, Lord, and we bless You.
We praise You, Lord, and we bless You.
Amen.*

And behold the Body and the Blood of Christ, the first manifestation of healing, of forgiveness, of redemption, which touched not only the human consciousness, but also the body, the blood, the cells and the atoms, life in all its dimensions.

Behold the Love of God manifested in everything that lives and breathes. This, children, is the Body and the Blood of Christ.

Prayer: Our Father

We announce peace.

Lord, I am not worthy that you should enter under my roof, but only say the Word and I shall be healed. Amen.

I leave you My Peace.

In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. Amen.
